

Call for Papers Now Open

FEI: Front End of Innovation is now accepting proposals to speak at the 2020 event. The proposal period will be open from July 31st to August 19th.

The 18th annual FEI event will take place May 4-6 at the just-opened Encore Resort & Casino in Boston. Accepted presenters will be given access to the entire 3-day conference.

The 2020 Conference theme will center around Transformation and Disruptive Innovation. As such, first-priority will be given to senior innovation and R&D leaders who can present new content around the following topic areas:

- Innovation Leadership
- How to pick your next big idea
- Innovation self-assessment
- Accelerators
- Corporate Venturing (Windows into the Future)
- Scaling: Growing the New Venture
- Recruiting New Talent
- Starting an Innovation Team from Scratch
- Building the Large Company/Start-Up Relationship

FEI now invites experienced client-side innovators to send original research abstracts formatted to the guidelines below.

- 80 word abstract on what the presentations will be about
- 4 bullet points highlighting presentations take-aways
- A short paragraph on how is your research original?

Conference proceedings and reviewing process:

Must send the above details in word doc no later than Monday, August 19th 2019 to Joanna.tanner@knect365.com.

If you are a vendor or solution provider and want to speak, please contact Brian Scott at Brian.Scott@Knect365.com.

Your materials will be evaluated by the conference industry led advisory board and conference organizing committee. Speakers will be accepted on a rolling basis.

Winners of the above call for papers will receive a 30min speaking slot at FEI 2020. (*note vendor presenters will require sponsorship).

We look forward to receiving your papers' abstracts!

Best regards,
FEI Team and Conference Advisory Board
